To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter with the aim of communicating to you, from me and from my company, esteem and gratitude for the work done in synergy during the past couple months, with the common goal of defeating COVID-19 across the globe.

The scientific and commercial collaboration between Zhejiang Orient Gene Biotech and Lab srl in Italy has allowed us to achieve the initial objectives set with significant results.

Considering its outstanding efficiency and competence, Lab srl is not only a laboratory of analysis but also a center of Italian excellence. As such, we would like to establish a primary communication and collaboration channel with Lab srl in order to develop research topics in the healthcare field both on behalf of both national and international interest.

The collaboration aims to allow Orient Gene to have a reliable and quality partner in Italy and Southern Europe.

We will take care to invite you as soon as possible to some sector fair in which Orient Gene will participate and in any case at the next Expo 2021.

We are certain to continue the collaboration and hoping to meet you soon also in person. I send you my best regards.

Best Regards,

方效良 Fang, Xiaoliang
